These office-based personnel are responsible for purchase decisions and day-to-day management of busy medical practices. They plan, direct, coordinate, and supervise the delivery of healthcare and the business functions of these practices, often working very closely with the physician. Medical office managers are the fastest growing segment of medical and health service management. Selections are available by job function, physician's specialty (physician name not supplied), employee size and sales volume.

These professionals are excellent prospects for management seminars, office supplies, computer supplies, uniforms and much more.
