This newly updated file features 119,468 respiratory care specialists. Respiratory Therapists, under a physician's medical direction and supervision, plan and implement a variety of therapeutic and diagnostic procedures for patients suffering from a wide range of heart and lung disorders. They are also responsible for the purchase, operation and general maintenance of complex equipment. Respiratory Therapists combine technical skills with scientific information for the benefit of the patients they serve.

They are excellent prospects for specialty related publications, medical seminars, respiratory care equipment and uniforms.

There are 37,479 records available with License Number!
